Trainer

Rory Bell is director of Teaching and Training Ministries, an organisation that equips ordinary people to teach the Bible to children. Rory and his wife, Kim, have worked in a number of different sized churches in a range of contexts both in South Africa and the UK. He has conducted extensive training in churches and theological colleges in South Africa, Singapore, Dubai, Zimbabwe, Uganda, Kenya, Rwanda, Germany, Norway, Hong Kong, Australia and throughout the United Kingdom.

TnT Ministries publishes Mustard Seeds Bible teaching resources.

Training Outline

Get REAL with Children – Two Part Session

Children are not simply mini-adults! They're in the process of developing into adults and they therefore have rapidly changing abilities. If they are going to be taught effectively these abilities must be taken into account. Explore the differences between children and adults so that you can adapt your teaching style to hit the spot – every time! The first session deals with the intellectual, emotional and physical development of children. The second session is dedicated to understanding their spiritual development.

Get REAL with Tough Passages

Get to grips with teaching some of the really difficult (perhaps even gruesome) passages of the Bible to children of all ages.

Get REAL in Pointing to Jesus

How do you teach the Old Testament as God's Word about Jesus rather than a Jewish history book? Learn to teach Jesus while teaching the Old Testament faithfully and with integrity.

Thanks very much for Saturday. It's changed my whole approach to lesson planning. Great stuff!

It was such a great help for me and all the team I lead.

I wanted to say a massive thank you on behalf of our Youth and Junior Church team for your input to our children's ministries on Saturday. We are so grateful for the teaching, encouragement, discipline, validation, wisdom, food for thought and wealth of ideas we now have to put into practice.
